Indies are expected to have their own policy which is at the same level as, or exceeds the quality of, the BBC Safeguarding Policy.

For any productions working outside of the UK, the BBC International Safeguarding Policy should be referred to.

adhere to licensing conditions could result in a fine or custodial sentence.

		with the organisation's GDPR and data retention policies.
11	Support & Care	Thought should be given to the support that is provided for children and their parents/family. Support could include: • Initial assessment by Psychological specialists, with ongoing access to counselling/psych services throughout the production if necessary. • Guidance on social media settings and potential risks (i.e. negative comments) • Handling press enquiries • Liaising with the child's school to ensure they are aware of involvement so they can provide support whilst in education. • Providing links to any charities/support organisations who may be able to help. BBC Editorial Policy Advisors are able to	